Computer-aided Project Management

George Suhanic

software in different projects of different purposes to serve. These computer aided project management tools are capable of processing. Technology helps project managers manage their projects more efficiently. But can software Suhanic, G. 2001. Computer-aided project management.